Coffee Corner

On a recent evening my family sat in a darkened theater waiting to see the latest hit movie. As the screen lit up with a flashy ad for the theater's concession stand, we noticed the sound was missing. The unexpected silence continued for several moments. Then out of the darkness, an irritated voice in the crowd demanded, "Okay, who's got the remote?"

Joe was describing a 30 pound bass he'd caught recently after fighting it for three hours.

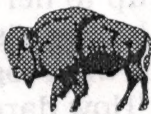

Bill interrupted the story saying, "I saw the picture you took of that fish. You're lucky if it even weighed 10 pounds."

Joe replied, "Well... a fish can lose an awful lot of weight during three hours of fighting."

Recently, to help out a friend I picked her seven-year-old son, Eric, from his beginner's swimming class.

"That wasn't much of a lesson." Eric complained as he climbed into the car. "I only got to swim for one minute."

"What did you do the rest of the time?" I asked him.

"Sink!" Eric replied.

Success is a matter of luck.
Ask any failure.

Two confirmed bachelors sat talking, their conversation drifted from politics to cooking.

"I got a cookbook once," said one, "but I could never do anything with it."

"Too much fancy work in it, eh?" asked the other.

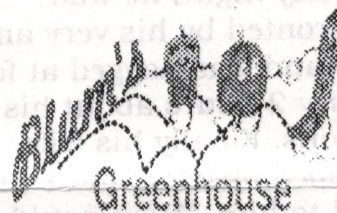

"You said it. Every one of the recipes began the same way."

"Take a clean dish."

Farmer Joe is suing a trucking company over injuries he suffered in an auto accident. The company's lawyer begins his cross examination. "Is it true that at the accident scene you said, "I am fine?" "Let me explain," pleads the farmer. "I had loaded my mule, Bessie, into the trailer and was driving down the road when this truck crashed into us. I was hurt bad. When the trooper arrived, he heard Bessie moaning took one look at her and shot her. Then he walked over to me and said, "Your mule was in such bad shape, I had to shoot her. How are you?"

A woman sat down on a park bench, glanced around and decided to stretch out her legs on the seat and relax. After a while, a beggar came up to her and said, "Hello, luv, how's about us going for a walk together?" "How dare you," retorted the woman, "I'm not one of your cheap pickups!" "Well then," said the tramp, "what are you doing in my bed?"

A skydiving instructor was going through the question and answer period with his new students when one of them asked the usual question always asked, "If our chute doesn't open; and the reserve doesn't open, how long do we have till we hit the ground?" The jump instructor answered, "The rest of your life."

A man left work one Friday afternoon but instead of going home, he stayed out the whole weekend and spent his entire paycheck. When he finally appeared at home on Sunday night, he was confronted by his very angry wife and was nagged at for nearly 2 hours about his actions. Finally his wife stopped nagging and simply said to him, "How would you like it if you didn't see me for 2 or 3 days?" To which he replied, "That would be fine with me." Monday, Tuesday & Wednesday came and went and he didn't see her. On Thursday the swelling went down just enough where he could see her a little out of the corner of his left eye.

Riddle of the Month

Here on Earth it is true that yesterday is always before today. But, there is a place where yesterday always follows today. Where?

If you're wondering why your back is "stiff as a board," remember this is your lumbar region.

A small social club was trying to organize a baseball team. They could only muster eight players, but finally found a ninth to play. In desperation, they called on a new member, an Englishman, to join their team. During their first game, the Englishman came to bat. On the first pitch, he knocked the ball out of the park. "Run!" his teammates cried. "For Pete's sake, run!" The Brit turned and stared at them icily. "I jolly well shan't run," he replied. "Why should I? I'm perfectly willing to buy you chaps another ball."
